Mosques Across the Country Open Doors to All Canadians

To combat the unprecedented rise of hate crimes, Canadians are offered a unique opportunity to visit their local mosques

This weekend, the Ahmadiyya Muslim Jama'at Canada will be launching a nationwide campaign titled "Bring a Friend to the Mosque" to welcome Canadians to its mosques. With the unprecedented rise of hate crimes leading to Islamophobia and anti-Semitism, this timely initiative aims to give Canadians an opportunity to address any questions or concerns based on the conflict in the Middle East.

The Ahmadiyya Muslim Jama'at believes the only way to truly quell the tide of hate crimes is by providing much-needed education and having open dialogue with Canadians.

Dozens of mosques in cities and towns across the country will be participating this weekend, on December 16-17, including Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, Calgary, Ottawa, Mississauga, Brampton, Barrie and many others.

Canadians interested in participating in the campaign and visiting a local mosque can register online at MosqueVisit.ca
